Inna Berezka (b. 1997)

Visual artist, based in Poland (originally from Ukraine)

I am a visual artist working across drawing, painting, and mixed media. In my practice, I explore the state of “in-between” — a space where different roles, identities, and life experiences intersect. Simultaneously, I exist as an artist, mother, student, and cultural manager, and I am interested in the tensions and interactions between these positions.

My practice is based on an intuitive, process-driven approach. I use layering, erasure, and repetition as methods of constructing an image. Through working with material, I explore corporeality, emotional states, and the complexity of everyday experience.
